Social work, often considered a relatively modern profession, has developed through advances in knowledge, social sciences, and humanities... (Doel, 2012). The Social Work profession is led by theories from social sciences, indigenous, and humanities...

Research involves a process of collaboration with stakeholders to connect research with practice. This article describes the format for the MSW social work student who individually engages in a Plan B...

Evaluation research is a key component of professional social work practice. This article is designed to help practitioners understand how to implement evidence-based programs...

Research evaluates the impact of social work practice through a process of systematic analysis. Evaluation research, applied social work research and evidence-informed social work practice are all...

Research Guides: Social Work *: Evidence-based Practice...

This article addresses a void in the literature about social work research and evaluation (R&E) designs, in particular...

Social workers should never design or conduct evaluation or research that does not use consent procedures, such as...

Since the first edition in 1981, Social Work Research and Evaluation has provided graduate-level social work students...

Social Work Research and Evaluation applies systematically developed research knowledge to social work practice and emphasizes the "doing" of social work as a reciprocal avenue for generating research evidence and social work knowledge.

Research is an essential area of social work practice and is included in the AASW Practice Standards for Social Workers...

"Social Work Research and Evaluation: Foundations of..."